Anthony Holzwart & Helen Black

From the top of the Andes to the Amazon jungle. Armed with a couple of hired Honda XR250cc bikes, questionable navigational skills, and half a dozen of the wrong Spanish words, Anthony and Helen set off to explore Peru. On roads less travelled they find the true Peru... warm and welcoming villagers, breath-taking Andes crossings, retreating glaciers, sheer drops from gravel tracks and steaming Amazon jungles. Who'd have thought a gob full of coca leaves was an adventure must-have!

Horizons Unlimited has again joined up with Motoexped and We Love Motogeo to bring the 9MMFF (9 Minute Moto Film Festival) to HU meetings worldwide. Here's how it works: A real story is hiding in the hours of footage you've taken by helmet cam, SLR, or camcorder. See some amazing traveller's stories.

Jacqui Kennedy: Go slow. You don't need a big bike - you just need to adjust your attitude. Why on earth would someone voluntarily spend years in the saddle of an under-powered, over-loaded little bike which steers like a washing machine on a good day. After 55,000 km over three years, find out the lessons learned and ignored about slow travel. Not satisfied with one lap, Jacqui embarked on a second lap - but with a twist.
